What's next for school vouchers in Pa.

Gov. Josh Shapiro and GOP lawmakers say they still support school vouchers, which House Democrats and teachers unions oppose.

The House is now preparing a series of joint committee hearings to study the issue. They'll likely take place in the early fall, said Rep. Peter Schweyer (D., Lehigh), who chairs the House Education Committee.

Democratic lawmaker's resignation leaves the Pa. House with a 101-101 partisan split

McClinton immediately issued a writ for a special election to be held on Sept. 19 to bring the chamber back to full complement of 203 members. The winner of that special election in the 21st state House District will finish out the unexpired portion of Innamorato's term, which expires on Nov. 30, 2024.

- Claiming a vote on July 6 would have been able to avert tuition increases is simply not true.
- Claiming this increase is “up to $10,000” is just as bizarre a comment when the facts are considered.*

State-Related Universities Tuition

- The Pennsylvania State System of Higher Education (PASSHE) – which is state-owned – has taken on initiatives within its system to reduce costs and freeze tuition.
 - PASSHE has done so without the massive endowments maintained by Penn State, Temple, and Pitt.
- The State-Related Universities should look at the efforts PASSHE schools have taken to keep costs down before asking taxpayers and students to float their massive budgets.

State-Related Universities v/s AICUP Schools

- Tuition and fees for Association of Independent Colleges and Universities of Pennsylvania (AICUP) Schools has remained relatively flat over the last 10 years.

State-Related Universities – Lincoln University

- Republicans supported funding for Lincoln University because they pledged to continue their tuition policy.
 - Tuition rates for a student's freshman year are guaranteed for four years.
- It is not a freeze for all students, but it's a viable compromise.

State-Related Universities

- On July 6, in the middle of floor debate, House Democrats finally afforded House Republicans an opportunity to discuss concerns with State-Related University funding.
 - Consistent with House Democrat behavior thus far this session, House Democrats refused to make any concessions.
- When there is a “full” budget deal in place, State-Related Universities will be a part of it.
- Should funding be agreed to, these institutions can adjust their spring tuition accordingly.
 - Again, due to Governor Shapiro’s Great Betrayal, voting yes or no for the State-Related Universities non-preferred appropriations bill, on July 6, would not have stopped a tuition increase for the upcoming year.

Work Remains on the 23-24 Budget

- The following items still need to be addressed before this budget is finalized:
 - HB 611 PN 1811 signed by the Senate and signed by the Governor.
 - Fiscal Code passed by the House and Senate and signed by the Governor.
 - Education Code passed by the House and Senate and signed by the Governor.
 - Administrative Code passed by the House and Senate and signed by the Governor.
 - Human Services Code passed by the House and Senate and signed by the Governor.
 - Non-preferred State-Related Universities bill(s) passed by the House and Senate and signed by the Governor.

House Republicans Impasse Agenda

- We are currently in a full Budget Impasse; this means there are limited state government payments that should be made.
- If/when the Senate signs HB 611, without a fiscal code there are many line-items, programs, and payments which still cannot be paid.
- We will be keeping a close eye on all spending from the Shapiro Administration and looking for expenditures that are not:
 - “Programs that affect health, safety, and protection of Pennsylvanians or as required under Federal Law, state court decisions or the Pennsylvania Constitution” per Act 146.

Fiscal Code Issues – Line Items

- Lifeline Scholarships ($100 million)
- Level Up Funding ($100 million)
- Universal free breakfast for all school students ($46.5 million)
- Funding for Indigent Defense ($7.5 million)
- Foundations in Industry grants ($3 million)
- Student Teacher Stipends ($10 million)
- Whole Home Repairs Program ($50 million)
- Historically Disadvantaged Business Program ($20 million)
- Hospital and Healthsystem Emergency Relief ($50 million)
- Transfer funds from PIT to the Environmental Stewardship Fund for Growing Greener debt service payments ($10.6 million).
- Animal Health and Diagnostic Commission from the GF instead of the Racehorse Development Fund ($5.35 million)
- Parent Pathways to support students who are parents at postsecondary institutions. ($1.66 million)
- Schools to Work program under L&I ($3.5 million)
- Total Impacts: $408.11 million

Fiscal Code Issues – Other

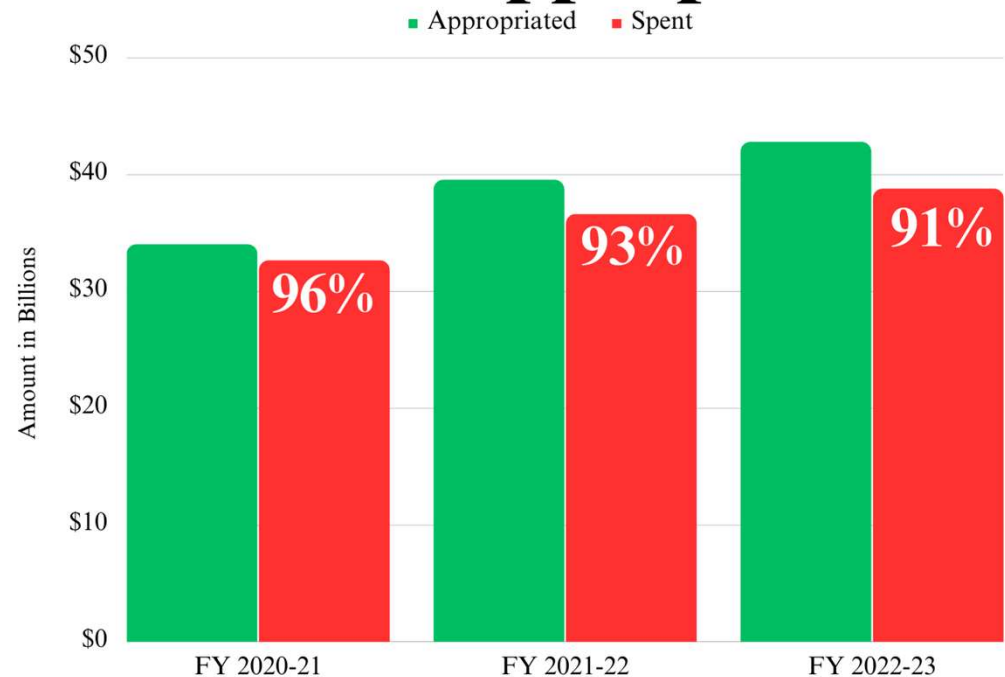

- If the General Appropriations Bill is signed into law, still many issues remain.
Examples:

- Rainy Day Fund - within 90 days, the Treasury shall transfer 10% of the surplus or roughly $900 million into the Rainy Day Fund.
- Tobacco Settlement Allocations – cease
- Library Payments – cease
- Community College Payments – cease
- Hospital Assessment – cease ($1+ billion for hospitals)
- Court fees – cease
- IU's Funding – cease
- BEF distribution will be incorrect
- Child Support Enforcement Fee – cease
- Nonnarcotic Medication Assisted Substance Abuse Treatment Grant Program can't operate

House Republicans Impasse Agenda

- Based on experiences from the Wolf Budget Impasses, we anticipate agencies will seek to spend prior year unspent funds.
 - This isn't necessarily a good or bad thing but must be reviewed carefully.
 - We also know there are unspent funds from prior years.

Status of Appropriation

House Republicans Impasse Agenda

- Areas that should NOT be paid during the budget impasse (or waivers containing language such as):
 - “In the best interest of the Commonwealth” without proper explanation (Act 146)
 - Administrative costs (not including salary)
 - Travel
 - Subscriptions
 - Contracts/Contract amendment payments
 - Membership dues
 - Advertising
 - “Due to continuing impasse”
 - “Insufficient funds in current year”
 - “Budget delays”
 - “Other specialized services”

Impasse Issues Already Starting

- Out of state travel to conferences are not essential government functions.
- If out of state travel is necessary, it should be paid for at the Secretary's expense and reimbursed once the Great Betrayal Budget Impasse ends.

State-Related Universities Tuition Timing

- The State-Related Universities had already made their decision to increase tuition for the Fall 2023 semester as evidenced by their response to Rep. Warner's question.
- Claiming a vote on July 6 would have been able to avert tuition increases is simply not true.
- Claiming this increase is “up to $10,000” is just as bizarre a comment when the facts are considered.*

State-Related Universities Tuition

- The Pennsylvania State System of Higher Education (PASSHE) – which is state-owned – has taken on initiatives within its system to reduce costs and freeze tuition.
 - PASSHE has done so without the massive endowments maintained by Penn State, Temple, and Pitt.
- The State-Related Universities should look at the efforts PASSHE schools have taken to keep costs down before asking taxpayers and students to float their massive budgets.

State-Related Universities v/s AICUP Schools

- Tuition and fees for Association of Independent Colleges and Universities of Pennsylvania (AICUP) Schools has remained relatively flat over the last 10 years.

State-Related Universities – Lincoln University

- Republicans supported funding for Lincoln University because they pledged to continue their tuition policy.
 - Tuition rates for a student's freshman year are guaranteed for four years.
- It is not a freeze for all students, but it's a viable compromise.

State-Related Universities – University of Pittsburgh

- The University of Pittsburgh can't freeze tuition, but it can take ads out on PoliticsPA.

State-Related Universities

- On July 6, in the middle of floor debate, House Democrats finally afforded House Republicans an opportunity to discuss concerns with State-Related University funding.
 - Consistent with House Democrat behavior thus far this session, House Democrats refused to make any concessions.
- When there is a “full” budget deal in place, State-Related Universities will be a part of it.
- Should funding be agreed to, these institutions can adjust their spring tuition accordingly.
 - Again, due to Governor Shapiro’s Great Betrayal, voting yes or no for the State-Related Universities non-preferred appropriations bill, on July 6, would not have stopped a tuition increase for the upcoming year.

Work Remains on the 23-24 Budget

- The following items still need to be addressed before this budget is finalized:
 - HB 611 PN 1811 signed by the Senate and signed by the Governor.
 - Fiscal Code passed by the House and Senate and signed by the Governor.
 - Education Code passed by the House and Senate and signed by the Governor.
 - Administrative Code passed by the House and Senate and signed by the Governor.
 - Human Services Code passed by the House and Senate and signed by the Governor.
 - Non-preferred State-Related Universities bill(s) passed by the House and Senate and signed by the Governor.

House Republicans Impasse Agenda

- We are currently in a full Budget Impasse; this means there are limited state government payments that should be made.
- If/when the Senate signs HB 611, without a fiscal code there are many line-items, programs, and payments which still cannot be paid.
- We will be keeping a close eye on all spending from the Shapiro Administration and looking for expenditures that are not:
 - “Programs that affect health, safety, and protection of Pennsylvanians or as required under Federal Law, state court decisions or the Pennsylvania Constitution” per Act 146.

Fiscal Code Issues – Line Items

- Lifeline Scholarships ($100 million)
- Level Up Funding ($100 million)
- Universal free breakfast for all school students ($46.5 million)
- Funding for Indigent Defense ($7.5 million)
- Foundations in Industry grants ($3 million)
- Student Teacher Stipends ($10 million)
- Whole Home Repairs Program ($50 million)
- Historically Disadvantaged Business Program ($20 million)
- Hospital and Healthsystem Emergency Relief ($50 million)
- Transfer funds from PIT to the Environmental Stewardship Fund for Growing Greener debt service payments ($10.6 million).
- Animal Health and Diagnostic Commission from the GF instead of the Racehorse Development Fund ($5.35 million)
- Parent Pathways to support students who are parents at postsecondary institutions. ($1.66 million)
- Schools to Work program under L&I ($3.5 million)
- Total Impacts: $408.11 million

Fiscal Code Issues – Other

- If the General Appropriations Bill is signed into law, still many issues remain.
Examples:

- Rainy Day Fund - with in 90 days, the Treasury shall transfer 10% of the surplus or roughly $900 million into the Rainy Day Fund.
- Tobacco Settlement Allocations – cease
- Library Payments – cease
- Community College Payments – cease
- Hospital Assessment – cease ($1+ billion for hospitals)
- Court fees – cease
- IU's Funding – cease
- BEF distribution will be incorrect
- Child Support Enforcement Fee – cease
- Nonnarcotic Medication Assisted Substance Abuse Treatment Grant Program can't operate

House Republicans Impasse Agenda

- Based on experiences from the Wolf Budget Impasses, we anticipate agencies will seek to spend prior year unspent funds.
 - This isn't necessarily a good or bad thing but must be reviewed carefully.
 - We also know there are unspent funds from prior years.

Status of Appropriation

House Republicans Impasse Agenda

- Areas that should NOT be paid during the budget impasse (or waivers containing language such as):
 - “In the best interest of the Commonwealth” without proper explanation (Act 146)
 - Administrative costs (not including salary)
 - Travel
 - Subscriptions
 - Contracts/Contract amendment payments
 - Membership dues
 - Advertising
 - “Due to continuing impasse”
 - “Insufficient funds in current year”
 - “Budget delays”
 - “Other specialized services”

Impasse Issues Already Starting

- Out of state travel to conferences are not essential government functions.
- If out of state travel is necessary, it should be paid for at the Secretary's expense and reimbursed once the Great Betrayal Budget Impasse ends.

What's next for school vouchers in Pa.

Gov. Josh Shapiro and GOP lawmakers say they still support school vouchers, which House Democrats and teachers unions oppose.

The House is now preparing a series of joint committee hearings to study the issue. They'll likely take place in the early fall, said Rep. Peter Schweyer (D., Lehigh), who chairs the House Education Committee.

State-Related Universities – Lincoln University

- Republicans supported funding for Lincoln University because they pledged to continue their tuition policy.
 - Tuition rates for a student's freshman year are guaranteed for four years.
- It is not a freeze for all students, but it's a viable compromise.

State-Related Universities

- On July 6, in the middle of floor debate, House Democrats finally afforded House Republicans an opportunity to discuss concerns with State-Related University funding.
 - Consistent with House Democrat behavior thus far this session, House Democrats refused to make any concessions.
- When there is a “full” budget deal in place, State-Related Universities will be a part of it.
- Should funding be agreed to, these institutions can adjust their spring tuition accordingly.
 - Again, due to Governor Shapiro’s Great Betrayal, voting yes or no for the State-Related Universities non-preferred appropriations bill, on July 6, would not have stopped a tuition increase for the upcoming year.

Work Remains on the 23-24 Budget

- The following items still need to be addressed before this budget is finalized:
 - HB 611 PN 1811 signed by the Senate and signed by the Governor.
 - Fiscal Code passed by the House and Senate and signed by the Governor.
 - Education Code passed by the House and Senate and signed by the Governor.
 - Administrative Code passed by the House and Senate and signed by the Governor.
 - Human Services Code passed by the House and Senate and signed by the Governor.
 - Non-preferred State-Related Universities bill(s) passed by the House and Senate and signed by the Governor.

House Republicans Impasse Agenda

- We are currently in a full Budget Impasse; this means there are limited state government payments that should be made.
- If/when the Senate signs HB 611, without a fiscal code there are many line-items, programs, and payments which still cannot be paid.
- We will be keeping a close eye on all spending from the Shapiro Administration and looking for expenditures that are not:
 - “Programs that affect health, safety, and protection of Pennsylvanians or as required under Federal Law, state court decisions or the Pennsylvania Constitution” per Act 146.

Fiscal Code Issues – Line Items

- Lifeline Scholarships ($100 million)
- Level Up Funding ($100 million)
- Universal free breakfast for all school students ($46.5 million)
- Funding for Indigent Defense ($7.5 million)
- Foundations in Industry grants ($3 million)
- Student Teacher Stipends ($10 million)
- Whole Home Repairs Program ($50 million)
- Historically Disadvantaged Business Program ($20 million)
- Hospital and Healthsystem Emergency Relief ($50 million)
- Transfer funds from PIT to the Environmental Stewardship Fund for Growing Greener debt service payments ($10.6 million).
- Animal Health and Diagnostic Commission from the GF instead of the Racehorse Development Fund ($5.35 million)
- Parent Pathways to support students who are parents at postsecondary institutions. ($1.66 million)
- Schools to Work program under L&I ($3.5 million)
- Total Impacts: $408.11 million

Fiscal Code Issues – Other

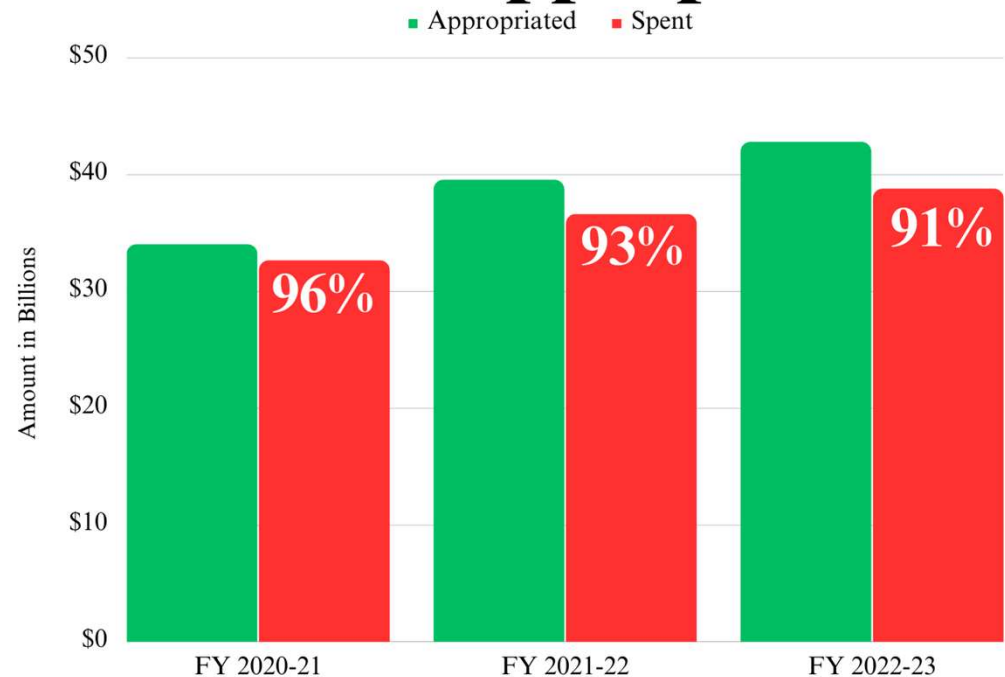

- If the General Appropriations Bill is signed into law, still many issues remain.
Examples:

- Rainy Day Fund - with in 90 days, the Treasury shall transfer 10% of the surplus or roughly $900 million into the Rainy Day Fund.
- Tobacco Settlement Allocations – cease
- Library Payments – cease
- Community College Payments – cease
- Hospital Assessment – cease ($1+ billion for hospitals)
- Court fees – cease
- IU's Funding – cease
- BEF distribution will be incorrect
- Child Support Enforcement Fee – cease
- Nonnarcotic Medication Assisted Substance Abuse Treatment Grant Program can't operate

House Republicans Impasse Agenda

- Based on experiences from the Wolf Budget Impasses, we anticipate agencies will seek to spend prior year unspent funds.
 - This isn't necessarily a good or bad thing but must be reviewed carefully.
 - We also know there are unspent funds from prior years.

Status of Appropriation

House Republicans Impasse Agenda

- Areas that should NOT be paid during the budget impasse (or waivers containing language such as):
 - “In the best interest of the Commonwealth” without proper explanation (Act 146)
 - Administrative costs (not including salary)
 - Travel
 - Subscriptions
 - Contracts/Contract amendment payments
 - Membership dues
 - Advertising
 - “Due to continuing impasse”
 - “Insufficient funds in current year”
 - “Budget delays”
 - “Other specialized services”

Impasse Issues Already Starting

- Out of state travel to conferences are not essential government functions.
- If out of state travel is necessary, it should be paid for at the Secretary's expense and reimbursed once the Great Betrayal Budget Impasse ends.

What's next for school vouchers in Pa.

Gov. Josh Shapiro and GOP lawmakers say they still support school vouchers, which House Democrats and teachers unions oppose.

The House is now preparing a series of joint committee hearings to study the issue. They'll likely take place in the early fall, said Rep. Peter Schweyer (D., Lehigh), who chairs the House Education Committee.

- Claiming this increase is “up to $10,000” is just as bizarre a comment when the facts are considered.*

State-Related Universities Tuition

- The Pennsylvania State System of Higher Education (PASSHE) – which is state-owned – has taken on initiatives within its system to reduce costs and freeze tuition.
 - PASSHE has done so without the massive endowments maintained by Penn State, Temple, and Pitt.
- The State-Related Universities should look at the efforts PASSHE schools have taken to keep costs down before asking taxpayers and students to float their massive budgets.

State-Related Universities v/s AICUP Schools

- Tuition and fees for Association of Independent Colleges and Universities of Pennsylvania (AICUP) Schools has remained relatively flat over the last 10 years.

State-Related Universities

- On July 6, in the middle of floor debate, House Democrats finally afforded House Republicans an opportunity to discuss concerns with State-Related University funding.
 - Consistent with House Democrat behavior thus far this session, House Democrats refused to make any concessions.
- When there is a “full” budget deal in place, State-Related Universities will be a part of it.
- Should funding be agreed to, these institutions can adjust their spring tuition accordingly.
 - Again, due to Governor Shapiro’s Great Betrayal, voting yes or no for the State-Related Universities non-preferred appropriations bill, on July 6, would not have stopped a tuition increase for the upcoming year.

Work Remains on the 23-24 Budget

- The following items still need to be addressed before this budget is finalized:
 - HB 611 PN 1811 signed by the Senate and signed by the Governor.
 - Fiscal Code passed by the House and Senate and signed by the Governor.
 - Education Code passed by the House and Senate and signed by the Governor.
 - Administrative Code passed by the House and Senate and signed by the Governor.
 - Human Services Code passed by the House and Senate and signed by the Governor.
 - Non-preferred State-Related Universities bill(s) passed by the House and Senate and signed by the Governor.

House Republicans Impasse Agenda

- We are currently in a full Budget Impasse; this means there are limited state government payments that should be made.
- If/when the Senate signs HB 611, without a fiscal code there are many line-items, programs, and payments which still cannot be paid.
- We will be keeping a close eye on all spending from the Shapiro Administration and looking for expenditures that are not:
 - “Programs that affect health, safety, and protection of Pennsylvanians or as required under Federal Law, state court decisions or the Pennsylvania Constitution” per Act 146.

Fiscal Code Issues – Line Items

- Lifeline Scholarships ($100 million)
- Level Up Funding ($100 million)
- Universal free breakfast for all school students ($46.5 million)
- Funding for Indigent Defense ($7.5 million)
- Foundations in Industry grants ($3 million)
- Student Teacher Stipends ($10 million)
- Whole Home Repairs Program ($50 million)
- Historically Disadvantaged Business Program ($20 million)
- Hospital and Healthsystem Emergency Relief ($50 million)
- Transfer funds from PIT to the Environmental Stewardship Fund for Growing Greener debt service payments ($10.6 million).
- Animal Health and Diagnostic Commission from the GF instead of the Racehorse Development Fund ($5.35 million)
- Parent Pathways to support students who are parents at postsecondary institutions. ($1.66 million)
- Schools to Work program under L&I ($3.5 million)
- Total Impacts: $408.11 million

Fiscal Code Issues – Other

- If the General Appropriations Bill is signed into law, still many issues remain.
Examples:

- Rainy Day Fund - with in 90 days, the Treasury shall transfer 10% of the surplus or roughly $900 million into the Rainy Day Fund.
- Tobacco Settlement Allocations – cease
- Library Payments – cease
- Community College Payments – cease
- Hospital Assessment – cease ($1+ billion for hospitals)
- Court fees – cease
- IU's Funding – cease
- BEF distribution will be incorrect
- Child Support Enforcement Fee – cease
- Nonnarcotic Medication Assisted Substance Abuse Treatment Grant Program can't operate

House Republicans Impasse Agenda

- Based on experiences from the Wolf Budget Impasses, we anticipate agencies will seek to spend prior year unspent funds.
 - This isn't necessarily a good or bad thing but must be reviewed carefully.
 - We also know there are unspent funds from prior years.

Status of Appropriation

House Republicans Impasse Agenda

- Areas that should NOT be paid during the budget impasse (or waivers containing language such as):
 - “In the best interest of the Commonwealth” without proper explanation (Act 146)
 - Administrative costs (not including salary)
 - Travel
 - Subscriptions
 - Contracts/Contract amendment payments
 - Membership dues
 - Advertising
 - “Due to continuing impasse”
 - “Insufficient funds in current year”
 - “Budget delays”
 - “Other specialized services”

Impasse Issues Already Starting

- Out of state travel to conferences are not essential government functions.
- If out of state travel is necessary, it should be paid for at the Secretary's expense and reimbursed once the Great Betrayal Budget Impasse ends.

What's next for school vouchers in Pa.

Gov. Josh Shapiro and GOP lawmakers say they still support school vouchers, which House Democrats and teachers unions oppose.

The House is now preparing a series of joint committee hearings to study the issue. They'll likely take place in the early fall, said Rep. Peter Schweyer (D., Lehigh), who chairs the House Education Committee.

Democratic lawmaker's resignation leaves the Pa. House with a 101-101 partisan split

McClinton immediately issued a writ for a special election to be held on Sept. 19 to bring the chamber back to full complement of 203 members. The winner of that special election in the 21st state House District will finish out the unexpired portion of Innamorato's term, which expires on Nov. 30, 2024.

- Throughout the budget process House Republicans have said funding State-Related Universities would be dependent upon certain conditions being met:

State-Related Universities Tuition Increases

State-Related Universities Tuition Timing

- The State-Related Universities had already made their decision to increase tuition for the Fall 2023 semester as evidenced by their response to Rep. Warner's question.

- Claiming this increase is “up to $10,000” is just as bizarre a comment when the facts are considered.*

State-Related Universities Tuition

- The Pennsylvania State System of Higher Education (PASSHE) – which is state-owned – has taken on initiatives within its system to reduce costs and freeze tuition.

- The State-Related Universities should look at the efforts PASSHE schools have taken to keep costs down before asking taxpayers and students to float their massive budgets.

State-Related Universities v/s AICUP Schools

- Tuition and fees for Association of Independent Colleges and Universities of Pennsylvania (AICUP) Schools has remained relatively flat over the last 10 years.

House Republicans Impasse Agenda

- Based on experiences from the Wolf Budget Impasses, we anticipate agencies will seek to spend prior year unspent funds.
 - This isn't necessarily a good or bad thing but must be reviewed carefully.
 - We also know there are unspent funds from prior years.

House Republicans Impasse Agenda

- Areas that should NOT be paid during the budget impasse (or waivers containing language such as):
 - “In the best interest of the Commonwealth” without proper explanation (Act 146)
 - Administrative costs (not including salary)
 - Travel
 - Subscriptions
 - Contracts/Contract amendment payments
 - Membership dues
 - Advertising
 - “Due to continuing impasse”
 - “Insufficient funds in current year”
 - “Budget delays”
 - “Other specialized services”

Impasse Issues Already Starting

- Out of state travel to conferences are not essential government functions.
- If out of state travel is necessary, it should be paid for at the Secretary's expense and reimbursed once the Great Betrayal Budget Impasse ends.

What's next for school vouchers in Pa.

Gov. Josh Shapiro and GOP lawmakers say they still support school vouchers, which House Democrats and teachers unions oppose.

The House is now preparing a series of joint committee hearings to study the issue. They'll likely take place in the early fall, said Rep. Peter Schweyer (D., Lehigh), who chairs the House Education Committee.

McClinton immediately issued a writ for a special election to be held on Sept. 19 to bring the chamber back to full complement of 203 members. The winner of that special election in the 21st state House District will finish out the unexpired portion of Innamorato's term, which expires on Nov. 30, 2024.

State-Related Universities

- Neither the Governor's negotiated budget with Senate Republicans nor the House Democrats proposal would have averted a tuition increase by State-Related Universities.
- Throughout the budget process House Republicans have said funding State-Related Universities would be dependent upon certain conditions being met:
 - Discussion on direct to student funding
 - Compliance with the Right-to-Know Law
 - Tuition freezes
 - These are all part of The Keystone Commitment to a child-first, family-focused education

State-Related Universities Tuition Increases

State-Related Universities Tuition Timing

- The State-Related Universities had already made their decision to increase tuition for the Fall 2023 semester as evidenced by their response to Rep. Warner's question.
- Claiming a vote on July 6 would have been able to avert tuition increases is simply not true.
- Claiming this increase is “up to $10,000” is just as bizarre a comment when the facts are considered.*

State-Related Universities Tuition

- The Pennsylvania State System of Higher Education (PASSHE) – which is state-owned – has taken on initiatives within its system to reduce costs and freeze tuition.
 - PASSHE has done so without the massive endowments maintained by Penn State, Temple, and Pitt.
- The State-Related Universities should look at the efforts PASSHE schools have taken to keep costs down before asking taxpayers and students to float their massive budgets.

State-Related Universities v/s AICUP Schools

- Tuition and fees for Association of Independent Colleges and Universities of Pennsylvania (AICUP) Schools has remained relatively flat over the last 10 years.

House Democrat Logic on Funding Education

Spending $100 million to help kids trapped in failing schools: bad...

...asking State-Related Universities to freeze tuition and comply with transparency laws for $642 million: bad...

...Helping students: bad?

State-Related Universities – Lincoln University

- Republicans supported funding for Lincoln University because they pledged to continue their tuition policy.
 - Tuition rates for a student's freshman year are guaranteed for four years.
- It is not a freeze for all students, but it's a viable compromise.

State-Related Universities – University of Pittsburgh

- The University of Pittsburgh can't freeze tuition, but it can take ads out on PoliticsPA.

State-Related Universities

- On July 6, in the middle of floor debate, House Democrats finally afforded House Republicans an opportunity to discuss concerns with State-Related University funding.
 - Consistent with House Democrat behavior thus far this session, House Democrats refused to make any concessions.
- When there is a “full” budget deal in place, State-Related Universities will be a part of it.
- Should funding be agreed to, these institutions can adjust their spring tuition accordingly.
 - Again, due to Governor Shapiro’s Great Betrayal, voting yes or no for the State-Related Universities non-preferred appropriations bill, on July 6, would not have stopped a tuition increase for the upcoming year.

Work Remains on the 23-24 Budget

- The following items still need to be addressed before this budget is finalized:
 - HB 611 PN 1811 signed by the Senate and signed by the Governor.
 - Fiscal Code passed by the House and Senate and signed by the Governor.
 - Education Code passed by the House and Senate and signed by the Governor.
 - Administrative Code passed by the House and Senate and signed by the Governor.
 - Human Services Code passed by the House and Senate and signed by the Governor.
 - Non-preferred State-Related Universities bill(s) passed by the House and Senate and signed by the Governor.

House Republicans Impasse Agenda

- We are currently in a full Budget Impasse; this means there are limited state government payments that should be made.
- If/when the Senate signs HB 611, without a fiscal code there are many line-items, programs, and payments which still cannot be paid.
- We will be keeping a close eye on all spending from the Shapiro Administration and looking for expenditures that are not:
 - “Programs that affect health, safety, and protection of Pennsylvanians or as required under Federal Law, state court decisions or the Pennsylvania Constitution” per Act 146.

Fiscal Code Issues – Line Items

- Lifeline Scholarships ($100 million)
- Level Up Funding ($100 million)
- Universal free breakfast for all school students ($46.5 million)
- Funding for Indigent Defense ($7.5 million)
- Foundations in Industry grants ($3 million)
- Student Teacher Stipends ($10 million)
- Whole Home Repairs Program ($50 million)
- Historically Disadvantaged Business Program ($20 million)
- Hospital and Healthsystem Emergency Relief ($50 million)
- Transfer funds from PIT to the Environmental Stewardship Fund for Growing Greener debt service payments ($10.6 million).
- Animal Health and Diagnostic Commission from the GF instead of the Racehorse Development Fund ($5.35 million)
- Parent Pathways to support students who are parents at postsecondary institutions. ($1.66 million)
- Schools to Work program under L&I ($3.5 million)
- Total Impacts: $408.11 million

Fiscal Code Issues – Other

- If the General Appropriations Bill is signed into law, still many issues remain.
Examples:
 - Rainy Day Fund - with in 90 days, the Treasury shall transfer 10% of the surplus or roughly $900 million into the Rainy Day Fund.
 - Tobacco Settlement Allocations – cease
 - Library Payments – cease
 - Community College Payments – cease
 - Hospital Assessment – cease ($1+ billion for hospitals)
 - Court fees – cease
 - IU's Funding – cease
 - BEF distribution will be incorrect
 - Child Support Enforcement Fee – cease
 - Nonnarcotic Medication Assisted Substance Abuse Treatment Grant Program can't operate
